

AWARENESS & TRAINING PROGRAM DEVELOPMENT

General

The ISO 27001 standard mandates information security awareness and training to ensure topical issues are elevated, and knowledge gaps relevant to the protection of information assets are identified and addressed.

Awareness

Based on your documented Awareness and Training Needs Analysis Report, CIMA will design and construct an awareness campaign to address key information gaps that could affect the confidentiality, availability and integrity of your information assets.

Awareness programs vary by organization and needs, and can cover areas such as:

1. Intranet topical information security articles;
2. Anti-phishing campaigns;
3. Leadership information security updates;
4. Topical posters;
5. Scripted leadership and other communications, and much more.

Training

CIMA develops and support the delivery of a variety of training to meet organizational needs. As a foundation, CIMA develops general employee information security training, which can be instructor led or facilitated by e-learning for a geographically diverse employee base. If you want to expedite this effort, ask us about our pre-built e-learning software package, SecureTeam™.

We also develop and deliver instructor led information security technical and business management focused training courses, as well as others designed to complement and communicate your policy and standards.

What You Get

Based on contracted service, you will receive a copy of all awareness and training developed for your organization.
